

2023 Latin American Journal of Central Banking Conference

CALL FOR PAPERS

July 13 - 14, 2023 – Mexico City (hybrid)

The Center for Latin American Monetary Studies (CEMLA) is pleased to organize the first version of the Latin American Journal of Central Banking (LAJCB) Conference, to be held on July 13 - 14, 2023 at CEMLA's headquarters in Mexico City. CEMLA invites paper contributions within the broad range of topics of interest to central banks, including (but not limited to) monetary theory and policy, financial intermediation (both theory and empirics), climate-related aspects of financial stability and monetary policy, digitalization and financial markets, and payments and market infrastructures. The conference is open to papers that may or may not wish to be published in the LAJCB.

Papers accepted for presentation will be discussed by another speaker within the same session. Accepted papers, presentations, and discussions will be posted on the Conference website to facilitate the discussion among participants.

Keynote Speakers

Charles Bean, London School of Economics
(One more Keynote Speaker will be announced)

Venue

The conference will be held at CEMLA's facilities in Mexico City in a hybrid format (in-person and digitally). There is no registration fee. There is a limited budget to cover economy flights and hotel expenses for in-person presenters.

Conference Special Issue

A special issue of the Latin American Journal of Central Banking will include selected papers presented at the conference. Authors who wish their paper to be considered for the Special Issue, should clearly indicate this in their conference submission.

Special Issue Award

All accepted papers in the Special Issue will receive a compensation of 1,500 USD each, which CEMLA will fund. The monetary prize will be divided in equal parts among each paper's authors. If the paper participates in any other CEMLA award, it will only be eligible for the monetary prize once.
