

2024 Latin American Journal of Central Banking (LAJCB) Conference

CALL FOR PAPERS

May 23 - 24, 2024 – Mexico City (hybrid)

The Center for Latin American Monetary Studies (CEMLA) is pleased to organize the second edition of the Latin American Journal of Central Banking (LAJCB) Conference, to be held on May 23 - 24, 2024 at CEMLA's headquarters in Mexico City. CEMLA invites paper contributions within the broad range of topics of interest to central banks, including (but not limited to) monetary theory and policy, financial intermediation (both theory and empirics), climate-related aspects of financial stability and monetary policy, digitalization and financial markets, and payments and market infrastructures. The Conference is open to papers that may or may not seek to be published in the LAJCB.

Papers accepted for presentation will be discussed by another speaker within the same session. Accepted papers, presentations, and discussions will be posted on the Conference website to facilitate the discussion among participants.

Keynote speakers

Allen N. Berger, University of South Carolina
David Argente, Yale University

Venue

The Conference will be held at CEMLA's facilities in Mexico City in a hybrid format (in-person and digitally). There is no registration fee. There is a limited budget to cover economy flights for in-person presenters.

LAJCB Publication

Papers accepted for the Conference are invited (there is no obligation) to be submitted to the Latin American Journal of Central Banking. Authors who wish their paper to be considered for the LAJCB should clearly indicate this in their Conference submission.

Monetary Award

All accepted papers in the LAJCB will receive a compensation of 1,000 USD each, which CEMLA will fund. The monetary prize will be divided in equal parts among each paper's authors. If the paper participates in any other CEMLA award, it will only be eligible for the monetary prize once.
